Local women injured in restaurant car crash

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Nine people were injured at Chuck Muer's Restaurant in Wayne when a gray Pontiac Grand Am, driven by Tonya Horne of Westland, crashed through the window facing Wayne Road at 11:30 a.m. Monday. Eight of the nine injured were released from Annapolis Hospital. Carol Kochanoski of Romulus was admitted with abdominal injuries.

Horne, 29, was driving westbound on Michigan Avenue when a car driven by Christopher Trost, 27, of Wayne struck the Grand Am at the rear bumper, forcing the car to change direction, according to Lt. John Colligan of the Wayne Police Department.

"The collision changed the direction of her (Horne's) car across Wayne Road and directly into the restaurant," said Colligan. "Trost's car had drifted into the Grand Am's lane and both tried to adjust, but her car was struck and she lost control."

Trost was given a ticket for improper lane usage.

Those injured in accident included Mary Mahon, Mary Ann Rysner, Betty McCright, Joyce Evans, Paula Bartolo and Antoinette Brothers, all of Romulus.

Colligan and Ken Warfield, deputy director of the Wayne Fire Department, agreed the situation could have been much worse.

"We were very fortunate the injuries were the type that people could be treated and released on the same day," said Colligan. "If it had been later in the day, the chance of having multiple fatalities would have been a lot greater."

"It's a miracle that no one was hurt seriously," said Warfield. "During that time of day and with the seating arrangement the way it is, it could have been a lot worse."

Bill Bezverkov, a manager at the restaurant, said one employee, Sherri McDonald, was slightly injured, but she is all right.

"I didn't see it happen, but I heard it," said Bezverkov. "There was a lot of running and screaming but the employees calmed everyone down pretty quickly."

Bezverkov, who did not yet have an estimate of the damage, said the restaurant reopened yesterday.

Patrick Cannon, sales manager at the Associated Newspapers, was having lunch at the time the crash occurred.

"I was eating lunch when I heard a loud kaboom," said Cannon. "The car flew through the air and landed inside the restaurant. There was glass everywhere, and it was lucky that no one was sitting next to the window because someone would have been killed."

Nine people, including at least seven Romulus residents, were injured Monday following an accident on Michigan Avenue in which a car swerved out of control and crashed through the window of Chuck Muer's restaurant in Wayne. The injured people

Chief gets OK for fireworks display

By RITA DERBIN
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Fire Chief William Greenslait had some good news and some bad news for local residents in light of the drought conditions reported in the area.

"As long as we have the main water supply system we are not affected," Greenslait said. He added that a check of equipment found the water pressure coming from the large pumps on Wick Road and Detroit is up and until that situation changes, he anticipates no water problem.

"So far, so good, but we have told the water department to notify us if the pressure goes down," Greenslait said. "If the pressure went down in Detroit we would have a problem, but so far that hasn't happened," he said.

Because of the status of the water pumps, Romulus has not implemented a water conservation system that would

July 4th celebration set

Romulus is gearing up for the July 4 festivities, beginning with the annual parade from city hall to Kennedy Park, on Goddard Road.

The parade, complete with fire trucks and police cars along with several other floats will begin at noon Monday.

Other daylong activities will include family fun and games at Elmer Johnson Park, on Ozga Road, which many residents haven't chosen for a holiday picnic site, where they can relax and enjoy the outdoors together.

The city fireworks display will be at Elmer Johnson Park beginning at dusk (at approximately 9:30 or 10 p.m.). Romulus fire officials urge residents to follow safety regulations and not to set off private fireworks at any time during the holiday celebrations due to the extreme dryness.

have residents watering lawns only on odd or even numbered days depending on their addresses. Programs of that type are being used in other parts of Wayne County, Greenslait said.

Greenslait also said that as of Monday morning he was given the green light by the Department of Natural Resources to issue a permit for a city fireworks display on the Fourth of July.

That's the good news. The bad news was that Greenslait then requested that city council members at their meeting Monday night authorize the fire department to confiscate any private fireworks, even sparklers, due to the potential fire hazards caused by the dry grounds.

"No private fireworks will be allowed to be used in the city until the DNR OKs burning permits," Greenslait said. He added that there have already been numerous grass fires reported throughout Romulus and the fire department does not want the situation to get out of hand.

According to Greenslait, there were seven grass fires over the weekend, one was over eight acres on Wick Road, one was in Elmer Johnson Park, and another was on I-275 and Huron River Drive and spread all the way over to St. Aloysius church. Two more fires were reported on Monday along with a break in at Fire Station one. A television was reported missing by Greenslait.

Citizens clean up

By RITA DERBIN
ANP Staff Writer

A few spirited Romulus residents and city officials braved the record high temperatures to clean up their city last Saturday.

Tony Kopas, owner of Romulus Hardware, president of the Romulus Merchant Association and member of the Downtown Development Authority organized the clean up which started at Wayne and Goddard and ended at the Five Point area. The clean up lasted over two hours and participants nearly filled up a dump truck with debris.

Several of the area business cleaned up around their stores at the same time Kopas and several residents were walking across town but participation was not as great as hoped for.

Joining Kopas, who donated trash bags to the effort, were a few other business owners along with City Treasurer Jim Napiorkowski, Community Development Director Dennis Oakes and his assistant Jeff Martell, eight cheerleaders from St. Aloysius and one parent, a member of the Department of Public Works who drove a dump truck for hauling trash, and a police car with two officers who drove next to the children to insure their safety.

Mayor Beverly McAnally was also on hand for the clean up effort.

Tee off time

A great time was had by all as they teed off for the Mayor's Drug Task Force Golf Outing June 24. Several police officers, area businessmen and city officials joined forces with Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally to organize this first-ever event. The event took place at the Shady Hollow Golf Course. A $25 fee provided participants with 18 holes of golf, a picnic luncheon, and a chance at weekend holidays at Metro Airport hotels. More than $1,400 was raised for drug prevention efforts in the city and many new friends were made. Councilman Pete Bergeron and Wick Elementary School secretary Carole Bales (top, right) lead the parade of golf carts as the games begin. Police Lieutenant Bob Brown (bottom, left) works at the registration table signing up eager golfers. A golf outing wouldn't be complete without hot dogs cooked on a grill, so Warren Arwood (bottom, center) takes charge of the grill. More than 400 hot dogs and 50 pounds of potato salad were consumed. Rosemarie Nettle and Ruth Fairchild (bottom, right) take time out to pose for photos before they hit the course. They said they decided to come because no other women had registered. There were several other women there however. (ANP photos by Ann Grimes/staff photographer)

ROMULUS DIGEST

Fire destroys Lisa Street home

Romulus police and fire department personnel responded to a fire at a residence at 9247 Lisa Street at 2 a.m. Saturday. The fire destroyed the inside of the house according to reports from the fire department. Upon conducting an investigation at the scene of the fire it was determined that the cause of the fire was arson and three suspects still on the scene were arrested. Warrants were authorized by Wayne County Prosecutors Office charging Ronald Maracle, 18, of Ortonville, Richard Rhoden, 17, of Romulus and Guadalupe Romo, 18, of Taylor with arson and breaking and entering with intent to commit arson. The defendants were arraigned and released on cash bonds pending a preliminary examination on July 6 in the 34th District Court.

Area man convicted on larceny charge

Curtis Walenty, 24, of New Baltimore, was convicted by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge John Patrick O'Brien on June 6 following an arrest on the charge of larceny in the theft of compact disc players. The case began in December 1987 when compact disc players were taken from a shipment going from Chicago to Wixom by way of Central Transport. After an investigation, Walenty was arrested and charged with larceny. He will be sentenced June 29.

Yearbook story is corrected

In the June 15 edition of The Romulus Roman, an article entitled, "Yearbook blasted by students, parents," contained an error in the final paragraph of the article. The Romulus Roman reported that the high school band notified the school board they felt William Knight should be removed as yearbook advisor. In fact, the band did not ask for Knight's resignation. Band members circulated a petition stating they did not feel the band was covered fairly in the yearbook. It was band booster Richard Szente who addressed the board and reflected his opinion that Knight should resign his position as the yearbook advisor.

Thrift shop closed for vacation

Helping Hands Thrift Shop will be closing for a few weeks this summer to give volunteers who work there a well-deserved vacation according to Florence Klein, a volunteer at the Romulus store located at 37510 Huron River Drive. "This is the first time in quite a while we've taken the summer off. We decided to all take vacation at the same time and give all the volunteers a well deserved rest," Klein said. The store will be closed from July 1 until sometime in the middle of August, Klein added. She also asked that people not bring any items to the store during the time the store will be closed. "We'll be more than happy to have the items brought in when the store reopens in August. We really appreciate everyone's help and support over the years and thank the community and all the organizations and churches that have offered their help and support through the years," Klein added.

Junior high yearbook is bestseller

Romulus Junior High School students had the opportunity to buy the largest yearbook the school had ever issued at the end of the school year. According to yearbook advisor Gail Fraley, the yearbook is a 90-page hard cover edition with eight pages in color. The theme this year was Adventures in Junior High. "We're proud of the yearbook, there was a staff of about 15 students and they put the yearbook together by themselves for the most part. I was just there to teach them about the layout and all the technical stuff," Fraley said. Fraley added that the students that will staff the yearbook next year will be going to a workshop at Spring Harbor College during the summer that Walsworth Yearbook Company has sponsored for the last three years. "The 10 kids I am taking with me this July are paying more than half the fee themselves because they really want to go," Fraley said. At the workshop, students will have the opportunity to meet other junior high school students from 10-12 schools around the area and discuss different yearbook ideas. Awards will be given out in various categories for the previous yearbooks. "The kids learn about layout, copy writing, and ads. They put the ads together by themselves during the summer so that's very important," explained Fraley. "The kids won an award at last year's workshop for having the most spirited staff and we all really enjoyed ourselves. Hopefully we'll have just as much fun this year," she concluded.

its beginning, according to spokesmen for the event. During the week long activities the participants experienced the democratic system first hand and heard the pros and cons on current topics, they competed for public office, and attempted to legislate their party point of view, said the Boys State spokesmen. The seven-day program began last Thursday and will conclude today with a march to the state capitol followed by a dismissal this afternoon.

While attending Boys State, Conrad, Jurawski, and Hudson had the opportunity to use and tour many of the Michigan State University facilities including Jenison Field House, the Charles McCaffrey Outdoor Pool, Abrams Planetarium, and the university libraries. Also offered to the students were sports clinics by university varsity coaches including football coach George Perles and basketball coach Jud Heathcote. During their week-long stay, the three Romulus students, along with other participants, met with state leaders at the capitol in Lansing including Governor James Blanchard and Lieutenant Governor Martha Griffiths, according to Boys State spokesmen. They also had the opportunity to tour the capitol and meet with their state senator or state representatives. Most importantly the boys have the chance to return to their communities charged with the enthusiasm to become a part of their communities and committed to make Michigan a better place to live, according to Boys State representatives. All three of the Romulus students were required to be outstanding students and community leaders with an interest in government. They were chosen by Romulus High School faculty based on their grade point average, their academic schedule, the community activities in which they were involved, a written essay about why they wanted to attend Boys State and teacher recommendations. The three students were sponsored by area organizations who helped them with their $165 entrance fee. Conrad was sponsored by the Progressive Club, Zurawski was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and Hudson was sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Urban barnyard

Looking for a touch of the farm in suburbia? The Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service is offering free 4-H petting farm tours now until Aug. 12. The hour-long tours are by appointment, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. each day. The farm is located at 5454 Venoy Road in Wayne, between Michigan and Van Born, at the Cooperative Extension Service. Besides the cow, a Holstein, the farm also has two Rhode Island Red chickens, sheep, an Angora goat, two Hampshire pigs, a grade horse and New Zealand rabbit. Children will be able to feed the goat and sheep, and pet all of the animals, except perhaps the cow, according to Jill Usitalo, of the farm staff. The cow is "iffy," she said, because it loves people and "doesn't know its own strength," and there is a chance of injury. For reservations, call 721-6576. ANP photo by Ann Grimes

Suspect arrested in Van Born shooting

A suspect was arrested Sunday night in the shooting of an Inkster resident Wednesday night at the Hickory Hollow apartment complex on Hickory Hollow Drive and Van Born in Wayne.

Iredivs Donte Nelson, 21, of Inkster was shot twice in the right leg at approximately 7 p.m. by a man who, according to Inkster Police detectives, was involved in a shooting incident earlier in the day in Inkster.

The suspect, whose name was not released, is expected to be charged with assault with intent to murder and armed robbery. Wayne police officials presented a warrant recommendation to the Wayne County Prosecutors office yesterday afternoon.

Nelson, who was sitting in a parked car on east Hickory Hollow Drive with his father when the shooting began, was treated and released from Annapolis Hospital. Nelson's father, 41-year-old Donald Eugene Daniels of Wayne, fired back at the vehicle with a shot gun.

The suspect's car ran into a ditch and the passengers fled on foot through a field, according to a police report issued by the Wayne Police Department. The suspects then approached a 42-year-old Wayne woman and stole her vehicle, according to the report.

Earlier in the day, Inkster police arrested four individuals who were involved in a shooting incident on Spruce Street in Inkster. A van, carrying at least five people, opened fire on several people who were walking down the street, according to Detective Charles Givens of the Inkster Police Department.

"They used both automatic weapons and handguns," said Givens, who surmises the incident is narcotic related. "We found no narcotics but the individuals involved are known narcotic dealers."

Officials from both the Wayne and Inkster police departments believe the incidents involve members of two families. Three of the four people arrested by Inkster police are related.

"There was a truck with three guys in the back and they were chasing this car down Van Born and shooting at it," said Rene Yates, a resident of Hickory Hollow. "I was walking down the street and, at first, I thought it was fireworks. But when I looked up, I saw three guys standing up in the back of this truck shooting at the car."

Mary Ann Davis, who is on the board of directors at Hickory Hollow, said she saw a truck with three men in the back at the Red Apple restaurant on Michigan Avenue.

"I was across the street at White Castle when a police car pulled a truck over at the Red Apple," said Davis. "One of the guys in the back picked up a gun and pointed it at the police officer, who went back to his car. Then he followed them down Venoy."

Services are set for court officer

Police officers from eight area departments will form an honor guard tomorrow at the 10 a.m. funeral services for 34th District Court Officer Daniel Lenossi at St. Aloysius Church in Romulus.

Participating in the services for the court officer are officers from Romulus, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township, Belleville, Huron Township, the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and troopers from Michigan State Police Post 25 and Post 26.

Flags on municipal buildings in Romulus and Van Buren Township were observed flying at half mast this week in honor of the 60-year-old court officer.

Mr. Lenossi had been employed as a court officer since July 2, 1979. He had been serving in the courtroom of Judge Henry Zaborowski prior to his death on June 27. Court employees said Mr. Lenossi's work "was his whole life" and said he had been "well known to everyone in the area." He was a resident of Romulus for the past 22 years and had lived in Inkster prior to that time.

An avid fisherman, Mr. Lenossi was a member of the Metro West Steelheaders, the Huron Vally Steelheaders and the Huron Sportsmans Club. He also was a member of the Belleville Moose Lodge.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Baum Crane Funeral Home in Romulus. Visitation hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Wednesday with a rosary scheduled at 8 p.m. Prayers will be said on Thursday at 9:15 a.m., followed by the services at St. Aloysius Church. Burial will be at Michigan Memorial Cemetery in Flat Rock.

Mr. Lenossi is survived by his wife, Betty; son, Daniel; daughters, Deborah and Dody; seven grandchildren; brother, John, and sisters, Mary, Barbara and Margie.

Search is on for seniors

The search is continuing for nominees for the 1988 Senior Citizen of the Year awards, sponsored by the Michigan Offices of Services to the Aging and the Michigan State Fair.

Presented to two nominees, one in the area of leadership and one in the area of service, the award recognized the time, efforts and skills that Michigan older adults give back to their communities, said OSA Director Olivia P. Maynard.

Only organizations are allowed to submit nominations for the awards. Those who believe they know a person who would be a good candidate for the award in either category should solicit the sponsorship of a community organization and submit a nomination form by July 29. Nominees must be 60 years old or older by July 29 to qualify.

Nomination forms can be obtained by contacting the Michigan Offices of Services to the Aging, P.O. Box 30026, Lansing, Mich. 48909. Call (517) 373-8230.

Senior program nets state funds

The Inkster Comprehensive Services for senior citizens has received a $15,400 financial award from the state for senior center renovation/unmet needs funds, according to state Sen. George Hart (D-Deerborn).

Hospital marks 70th birthday

Beyer Memorial Hospital, in Ypsilanti, turned 70 years old this month, and employees and hospital staff members celebrated with an open house June 22.

The hospital, a unit of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority, is located at 135 S. Prospect, Ypsilanti.

The current Beyer building was constructed in 1970 and is located across the street from the original facility. The original hospital was operated by the city of Ypsilanti, until 1945, when the PCHA was formed. Beyer became the first of five PCHA hospitals in the area.

Lottery luck

Belleville resident Donald Hawn is all smiles moments after the Michigan Lottery money wheel stopped at the $20,000 mark. Lottery hostess Aggie Usedly (right) joined Hawn in his celebration. Anticipated sales for the Spin to Win instant game will offer up to 50 players a chance to spin the wheel by uncovering three "spin" symbols on lottery tickets. Prize amounts on the wheel range from $5,000 to $25,000, with the winners receiving the money indicated on the wheel. Hawn, 19, works for Carl's Vending Co. He plans to save his winnings, according to lottery officials. Special photo to ANP

State history book in libraries

A color picture book about Michigan history has been donated to local libraries by state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township). The book, A Portrait of Michigan at One Hundred Fifty, was sent to libraries in Belleville, Canton Township, Romulus and Wayne-Westland to commemorate Michigan week, celebrated May 23 to 29.

"I am pleased to have had the opportunity to help these libraries celebrate Michigan week," Kosteva said. "I know library patrons will enjoy the publication as it looks back at Michigan's 150th year."

The 94-page book includes facts about Michigan, pictures from festivals and events around the Wolverine State, including events such as recent as Pope John II's visit to Detroit.

State Librarian James W. Fry joined Kosteva in noting the importance of adding to the Michigan collection at area libraries.

"Many smaller libraries do not have the means to provide a collection specifically about our state," Fry said.

Center: Social assistance purpose of regional agency

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

First in a series.
"Help" is literally its middle name, and assistance to the needs of a wide range of clients is its "game."
The Romulus Help Center, located on Goddard Road, reaches out to more than 30 Wayne County communities to provide substance abuse treatment, senior services and youth assistance. Although based in Romulus, its day-to-day operations reach across city and township borders to include Western Wayne County, Dearborn and the downriver communities.

A strict policy of confidentiality prevents actual case histories from being revealed, but the following three fictional scenarios, written by staff members, illustrate typical problems and concerns that are brought to the Help Center on a daily basis:

• George, 43, found himself in a crisis situation when he was arrested on a drunk driving charge—his third in four years. Not only was he facing a stiff fine and possible jail sentence, but his wife was ready to leave him and take their two children. In addition, his job as a truck driver was in jeopardy because he faced the possible loss of his driver's license.

• Marie, 75, faced a personal disaster when health problems restricted her ability to care for herself. Unless she could find assistance, she would be forced to sell her home of 55 years and move to a nursing home.

• Danny, 16, had been arrested for breaking and entering. He also was in trouble due to fighting, a suspension from school and truancy. In addition, Danny did not get along with either of his parents. He was given the choice of going to court to face his charges or to enter counseling.

In the first scenario, according to RHC clinical director Anne Connor, the center could provide help by entering George into a treatment program. Guided by therapists,

The substance abuse program at The Help Center has reached out in this way to almost 1,000 substance abusers and their families over the last three years, offering hope of recovery from a devastating family illness.

— Anne Connor
clinical director

George would be encouraged to attend AA meetings and to bring his family into counseling to resolve the problems associated with his past drinking behavior.

"The substance abuse program at The Help Center has reached out in this way to almost 1,000 substance abusers and their families over the last three years, offering hope of recovery from a devastating family illness," Connor said.

During the past two years the outpatient substance abuse program has initiated the following changes: expanded from one to seven treatment groups, adding an antabuse and drug screening program, provided family therapy training for all the treatment staff, and created an intensive therapy program in response to requests by the courts.

In the second example, explained RHC Senior Services Coordinator Sharon Moomaw, a personal care worker could be provided to help Marie with cleaning, laundry and personal care. Marie could, therefore, live her remaining years in the familiar surroundings of her own home and also to have the companionship of the caregiver.

According to Moomaw, there are hundreds of senior citizens in the county who face situations similar to Marie's each year. During the last three years, she said, the program has been able to provide assistance to more than 3,000 elderly citizens in the form of minor home repair, personal care, homemaking services and chore services.

In the last year, according to Moomaw, the number of communities serviced by the program increased from six to 30 for some services and the staff has grown from a total of 19 one year ago to the present full-time and part-time staff of 32.

"Our service area has doubled, but our staffing has not," Moomaw said. "It is frantic around here trying to keep up. To make matters worse, we have lost one of our main resources—the workers from the General Motors job bank program. We have lost them without funds to replace them."

In the third scenario, according to Youth Assistance Coordinator Mark Small, Danny could be placed in the Youth Assistance Program in which he would set goals for himself and meet weekly with a volunteer counselor. He would also have weekly group therapy sessions and meet monthly for family treatment.

Under the direction of Small, who took over the program in July, 1987, more than 90 youths have been served and referrals have grown to as many as eight to 10 a week. In addition, 30 counselors have completed training, family treatment has been added to the program and individual counseling has been initiated at the junior and senior high schools. Most important, according to Small, is that there have been no repeat offenses by the youth who have completed the program.

"A real strength of these efforts is the use of program-trained volunteer counselors who provide individual attention, guidance and support for pre-delinquent youth," Small said. "The program provides a way for the community to actively address the needs of youth and their families. Not only are we preventing delinquency, but, very importantly, we are investing in the future of our community."

Bond program nets mixed reviews

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

A new Michigan Municipal Bond Authority (MMBA) equipment financing program has met with mixed local reactions.

Introduced in spring 1988, the program is designed to provide public agencies with simpler and more flexible financing.

According to The Michigan Tax Information Council, "The MMBA issues bonds or notes for sale on the national market in the amount it expects to loan to municipalities and school districts in order to finance its purchases for the program."

School districts and municipalities can then take advantage of the state credit rating as the MMBA "pools" the local government bonds and notes into a larger MMBA bond or note.

"We don't need it to finance any equipment," said Westland Mayor Charles Griffin. "We're trying to get out of buying equipment other than on a budgetary basis. If the state could provide a better interest rate, we'd take a look at it."

The new program provides financing for equipment and real property needs which include communications equipment, public safety needs, vehicles and land purchases.

Since Michigan state law prohibits local government from issuing general obligation bonds to purchase equipment, communities have been filling their needs through lease-purchases. The program would give local government flexibility for dealing with vendors while achieving lower financing costs.

The city of Westland is currently using municipal bonds to pay 45 percent of the costs for the North Huron Valley Rouge Program—a $6 million water system improvement program mandated by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

"It's positive, I think, without knowing the specifics," said Timothy Schroeder, director of the Economic Development Department (EDD) for Westland. "We've got an EDD with the ability to offer bond issues for manufacturing. The spread between tax exempt and taxable is not that great—whether the pool program does something better—I'm not sure."

Local government officials are also concerned about new federal tax reforms which affect municipal bonds.

"The federal tax act made certain municipal bonds taxable," said Ed Rothfelder, assistant finance director and assessor for the city of Wayne. "The National League of Cities is trying to appeal that issue. The cost has to be passed on. If they (the bonds) are taxable, the interest is lower and cost to taxpayers is lower. In either case, you sell the same amount."

"Previously, we could fund with industrial revenue bonds," said Schroeder, "for commercial projects and retail centers. At the end of 1986, you couldn't do that anymore, you could only finance on a tax-exempt basis related to manufacturing—public purpose, private activity bonds. The tax reforms cut back what could be financed under these bonds."

Bollin helps keep conference rolling

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

An administrative "jack of all trades" could be the job description for Conference of Western Wayne Executive Director Ann Bollin.

Bollin, who represents the 17-member conference on 29 different boards and committees, has had to become informed on a variety of issues including solid waste disposal, wetlands, emergency telephone systems and senior citizen concerns - all mutual concerns of the CWW communities.

To keep informed, Bollin said, she "reads everything" that comes across her desk, and has learned how to tap into resources for information.

"Our board members are good sources of information," Bollin said, "and when I need some facts they are willing to share information with me. We also serve as a center for information for the conference, so we naturally have access to current information."

Bollin began her career as a recreation therapist in the private sector and later became a grant manager for the city of Livonia, overseeing senior and community block grant programs. Her work in administering the programs gave her practical experience, an exposure to local government operations and led to her being hired as the administrator for the CWW minor home repair program which served 13 communities.

"I loved the job," Bollin said. "At that time, I was the administrator for one program and there were only three others in the total CWW program. My job first was as a program director and then in January of 1985, I was appointed executive director."

During the past three and one-half years, Bollin has seen the programs and participation grow as the members increasingly supported the mutual benefits of working together as the 17-member regional unit.

"We earned our credibility by building and completing programs which were of benefit to the members," Bollin said.

"Working for the conference has been exciting and challenging and I have met a lot of interesting people," Bollin said. "It is also rewarding to work on our programs - for example the emergency telephone Enhanced 911 system - because these are all projects on which the members have agreed to move ahead on and which they are willing to support."

"We have had a tremendous increase in the level of participation and direct involvement by our members in task forces, committees and other CWW functions," Bollin said.

The Bollins are expecting a child in September and she has planned to continue working for the CWW on a part-time basis. Her long-range plans include earning a master's degree in public administration and continuing to pursue the same type of work on a regional or state level. Bollin, who is 28, added that her long-range plans may include running for public office at some unspecified future date.

Hospital reorganization plan OK'd by lawmakers

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Legislation that would allow the Peoples Community Hospital Authority to reorganize as a private, nonprofit organization passed the state House of Representatives unanimously June 20, by a vote of 81-0. A similar positive vote in the state Senate is expected this week.

House Bill 5755 has been moved to the Senate Appropriations Committee and is expected to be on the Senate floor by the end of this week, according to state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township).

"This is a bill allowing PCHA to transfer or sell its assets to a nonprofit corporation for the exclusive use of providing hospital services," Kosteva said. "The bill specifies the use of the assets and what is to occur before they are sold or transferred and how the nonprofit corporation may use the assets."

Kosteva said the bill details the exact type of nonprofit organization that can qualify. The organization must utilize the assets for hospital purposes. In addition, the bill outlines the ramifications of a sale of any of the current PCHA assets.

"This gives legal changes necessary to give PCHA the authority to make their new affiliation with Oakwood Hospital and provide many health care services that the current law inhibits them from delivering," Kosteva said.

Currently, PCHA owns and operates five hospitals in western Wayne County and Downriver, including Ann Arbor Hospital, in Wayne; Beyer Memorial, Ypsilanti; Heritage, Taylor; Outer Drive, Lincoln Park; Seaway, Trenton; and ambulatory care centers in Brownstown Township, Livonia and Westland.

The public authority was created in 1945 by Public Act 47. PCHA serves 24 member communities and is governed by a 47-member board of directors. Residents in the member communities are levied an up-to .04-mill tax to support the five hospitals.

PCHA would be dismantled if the new legislation is passed by members of the Senate and signed into law by Gov. Blanchard. If that happens, the hospital authority would become United Care Inc., the name agreed upon by board members at their monthly meeting Thursday.

"Right now, United Care has no function, yet. If the legislation is passed, PCHA, as an entity, will still exist but not have governing influence over the five hospitals," explained Mike Thomas, a PCHA spokesman. "The (PCHA) board of directors will vote to transfer the assets to United Care from PCHA. I don't see there should be any problem in that."

At the Thursday PCHA meeting, 11 people were nominated by nominating chairperson Donald Pizzimenti to serve as board members for United Care Inc. They include: PCHA Chief Executive Officer Fred Blair; Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack, who will serve as temporary chairman; William Durant Jr., of Superior Township; Dr. Terrel LeCesne, of Inkster; Roger Remer; Noah Bergeron, of Romulus; John Kripowicz, of Trenton; Joseph Melling, of Allen Park; Grant Alberts, of Taylor; President of Heritage Corp. Bruce Clements; and Local 79 of Service Employees International Union representative Richard Cordtz.

County offers program for handicapped

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Servicing families of handicapped children is no longer the sole responsibility of the Michigan Department of Health.

Earlier this summer, providing services and assessing the needs of handicapped children and their families were made more of a shared responsibility between the state and the county.

"The state was not aware of all the resources available to these families at the county level," said Sharon Waldsmith, a spokeswoman for the Wayne County Health Department. "The state was being looked at as more of a bill-paying service."

The state will continue to fund programs for the families of handicapped children, but the county will act as the local agent, referring families to the proper places and assessing their needs.

The new county program will include two components. The first is family assessment, which is done by a public health nurse, and the second is case management.

"When a child has a chronic, disabling disease, the whole family has that disease," Waldsmith said.

Through an assessment session with a public health nurse, the county health department will determine what that particular family needs to survive. It might mean more education or counseling or it could mean some modifications to the family house.

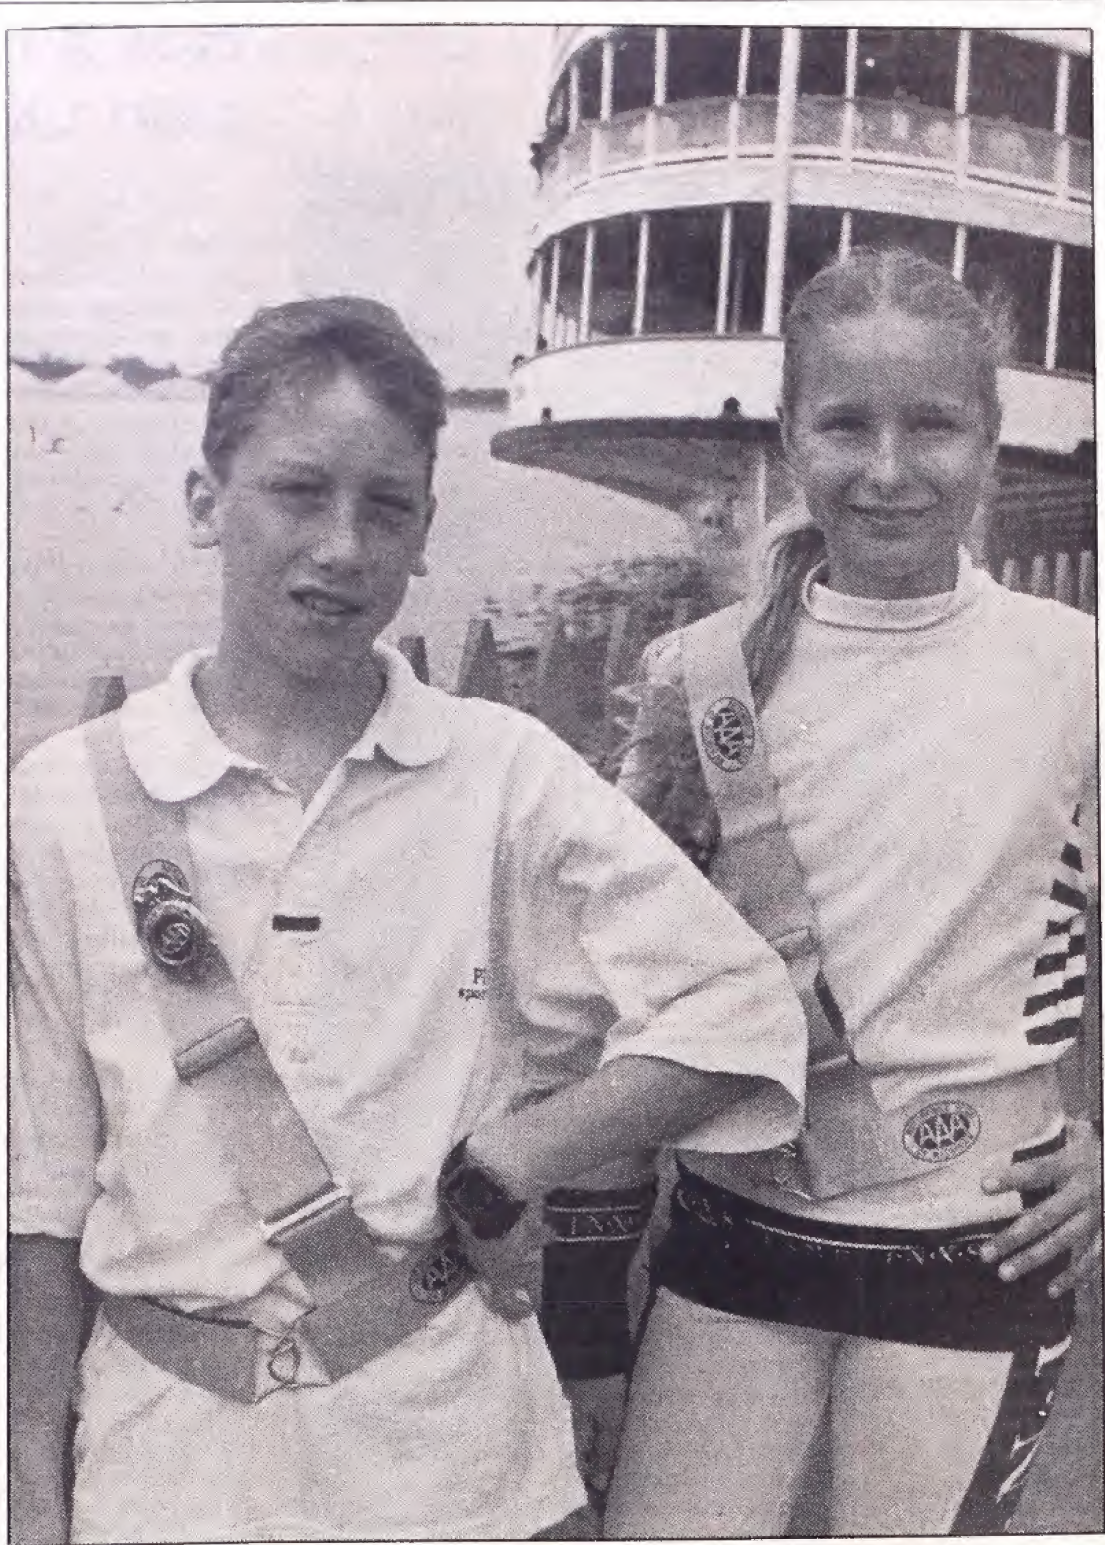

Once it is determined what the family needs are, the county will continue to help that family through a system of case management.

The county agency will work as a referral agent for as long as the family members need them.

Waldsmith is excited about the program and is certain that it will be a much more efficient means for helping these families.

To acquaint community leaders, health-care providers and school officials with this new program, the Wayne County Health Department will host an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Thursday, June 30 at the health department, 30712 Michigan Ave., in Westland.

Families who need the assistance of this new program are urged to call 722-8155.

Safe students

Two area students were lauded for their special safety efforts last year by being given the royal treatment at Boblo Island. Steven Toth (left) and Jamie Churchman, safety patrolers at Nankin Mills Elementary School, in Westland, participated in the AAA Michigan annual safety patrol recognition day at the Canada amusement park. The boat ride, admission to the island and all rides were offered to patrolers in honor of their efforts. These two patrolers were among 7,000 Michigan students who are credited with contributing approximately 300 volunteer hours each to help 1.3 million fellow elementary students arrive safely at school and home each day during the 1987-88 school year. Rouge development plan nets state grant

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Fishing, swimming and canoeing in the Rouge River currently seem everything but attractive. But county officials are hoping that all three uses of the river will be possible in the future.

To benefit that hope, Wayne County has been awarded a $76,000 grant, earmarked to develop a master plan detailing possible recreational uses on the shores of the Middle Rouge River.

"We're futuring," said Wayne County Parks Division Director Eric Reickel. "We're preparing ourselves. If and when water quality is improved, then we can go ahead (with recreational development)."

The grant, part of the state Rescue the Rouge River program, is a one-time allocation, with no matching funds. As part of the grant requirements, the county has 60 days to perform an analysis of four bodies of water targeted for improvements.

According to Barbara Rickert, executive assistant for the county executive's office, the four bodies of water include Nankin Pond, Newburgh Lake, Wilcox Pond and Phoenix Lake. Nankin Pond and Newburgh Lake are located in Livonia. Phoenix Lake and Wilcox Pond are located in the Plymouth area.

"A design firm will study the lakes, then develop recommendations," said Rickert. "The firm will recommend what the best use for each lake could be."

Possible recreational uses for the lakes include canoeing, swimming, fishing, boating and bird watching. Nankin Pond is especially suited to bird watching, said Rickert. The pond, resembling a bog in many respects, is currently a sanctuary for blue herons, Rickert said.

Currently, water quality on the Middle Rouge ranges from fair to very poor, according to standards set by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. According to Jim Bredin, Rouge River coordinator for the DNR Water Quality Division, the upper portion of the river - upstream of Tonquish Creek - is fair, while the portion from Tonquish Creek down to the mouth of the Middle Rouge is in poor condition.

Where Tonquish Creek comes into the Middle Rouge, Bredin said, conditions are very poor. The DNR has issued fish consumption advisories for the river, based on samples taken at Haggerty Road.

As part of the Rescue the Rouge program, approximately $350,000 in funding has been made available to help clean up the river. Once that is accomplished, a recreational master plan will go into effect. Until then, Wayne County officials will study "what it could be like."

Area drought prompts emergency precautions

and BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writers

Fireworks - particularly illegal varieties - will pose more problems this year for area firefighters than ever before, according to Van Buren Fire Chief Cameron McNally.

The unseasonably hot, dry June weather has made some "formerly safe" areas into tinderboxes, he said, creating serious fire hazards if rockets or other illegal flaming devices are launched in them.

"The governor has issued a ban on fireworks on public land, but I am afraid that those who purchase the illegal fireworks are not the type who will pay attention to the governor's ban or curtail their fireworks on private property," McNally said. "We are advising people of the danger, and hoping that parents will bring their children to one of the supervised displays in the area."

McNally said firefighters with 10 years of experience with the Van Buren Fire Department have not responded to as many grass fire calls in any previous year. The fire chief said they have made as many as seven and eight runs per day because of grass fires.

Not only have fires been ignited in open fields, but sparks have touched off lawns and evergreens. Trees may appear to be green, but they are extremely dry - all of the moisture has been drawn out during the period of excessive heat and lack of rain, according to McNally. Many things that we usually think of as nonflammable are now flammable because of the lack of moisture, he said.

The Van Buren fire chief expressed concern that fireworks this weekend could set off grass fires adjacent to homes and place the houses in jeopardy of burning. Normally, he said, one wouldn't think about a front yard burning, but that is happening now.

"What we need is a long, soaking rain and enough time for the Look - up in the air - it's a bird (as in albatross), it's insane. It's "Supersewer."

The ambitious Wayne County plan to provide a wastewater control system for 16 communities surrounding metro Detroit may soon get off the ground.

Despite the recent pullout of Canton, Northville and Plymouth townships, which opted to join the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority for sewage treatment needs, the Supersewer project may receive $26 million in federal funds by mid-September. Officials believe construction on the project could begin as soon as spring 1989.

According to Richard Hinson, a consultant on the project from Wade, Trim & Associates, an application to approve and fund the project has been filed with the state. It has not yet been approved.

Hinson expects technical approval by the end of the month, a federal grant award by mid-September and the solicitation of construction bids by November or December.

In terms of federal dollars, Hinson said, Wayne County will receive approximately $10 million, and the city of Detroit will receive approximately $16 million for sewer construction.

The second segment of the project will see roughly $8 million devoted to Wayne County and $6 million going to local governmental units. The third, and final, segment will involve $3 million in Wayne County and $7 to $8 million at the local unit level.

Supersewer, also known as the North Huron Valley-Rouge Valley Wastewater Control System, was first on a Department of Natural Resources list for 55-percent federal funding in 1986, until Canton, Northville and Plymouth townships began negotiations with the YCUA.

After those communities withdrew from the project, the city of Wixom began planning to expand the treatment plant there, rather than join Supersewer. Novi was also considering building a plant. However, in 1987, Novi officials indicated the Supersewer project would cost less.

In January 1987, Hinson presented three alternatives to the remaining participating communities:

- A new interceptor sewer paralleling the existing Middle Rouge interceptor, plus a storage basin on Inkster Road in Livonia. Total cost: $58 million.

- Construction of two additional storage basins with a total capacity of 20 million gallons to hold overflows from combined sewer systems during storms. Total cost: $47 million.

- Construction of a new wastewater treatment plant along the Middle Rouge River. Total cost: $121 million.

911 plan is ready to ring

Conference officials expect March start-up

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

"All systems are go" for several projects of the Conference of Western Wayne this summer, according to CWW Executive Director Ann Bollin.

"One of our biggest projects - the Enhanced 911 emergency telephone service - is right on target," Bollin said. "Some communities are even ahead of our projected schedule, and we foresee that the system will be implemented by the target date of March, 1989."

Individual members of the 17-community organization are in the process of purchasing equipment and meetings with project coordinator Joseph Benyo are continuing, she said.

Bollin is also working on the establishment of an intern program with students from Eastern Michigan University and Schoolcraft College.

"The CWW will utilize the interns based on their interest and educational level with the students receiving experience in township and city governments as well as a regional perspective," Bollin said. "They will be utilized in senior citizen programs, recreation departments and on such projects as evaluations, updating of maps and tax rolls."

The executive director said the goal of the program will be to give practical experience to the interns in their chosen fields and also to provide assistance to the programs in the member communities. Bollin said each student will have an opportunity to gain experience in coordinating and carrying out one specific program. For example, she said, a student intern in the recreation department might be given the responsibility of organizing an Arbor Day event during which he or she would plan, set up and follow through on a tree planting program.

Bollin said the students will serve part of their internship assisting in CWW projects such as conducting studies, developing pilot programs and identifying joint projects.

During the summer season, the personnel committee of the CWW has sponsored training sessions on the legalities of drug screenings, and will continue to provide workshops and training for a variety of municipal personnel concerns, Bollin said.

In addition, Bollin said, part of the year-round responsibility of the CWW is representing the communities on 29 area boards and committees. Among those agencies are the Metropolitan Affairs Corp., Commission on Structural Unemployment, Task Force on Law Enforcement, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (Economic Development Advisory Council) and the ad hoc committee on Solid Waste, and the United Community Services Wayne Division.

CWW chairman is Westland Mayor Charles Griffin and vice chairman is Van Buren Township Supervisor Lynne Hamilton.

DIGEST

Grade changing to be restricted

A Bill requiring teachers to be notified of changes made to a student's grades will be going before the governor after passing both houses of the state legislature.

A grade will only be changed under certain conditions and teachers would have the right to contest any revisions made to grades under the proposed law.

Higher ed budget is in committee

The budget for Michigan four-year institutions of higher education is now in a conference committee after being approved in both houses of the state legislature in different languages.

A total of $1,122.2 million is the 1988-89 budget for the state four-year colleges and universities. A general fund allocation of $1,117.7 is included, along with $4.5 million in federal funds.

Furlough system
to be tightened

The state prison furlough system would be tightened by putting an end to early releases of prisoners to alleviate prison overcrowding under a Bill that has passed both the state house and senate.

State prisoners could only be allowed supervised furloughs to visit a critically ill relative or attend a relative's funeral, to work or receive training, or to receive medical treatment under the Bill.

Handicapper rights
could be restored

A Handicapper Civil Rights Restoration Bill, currently being considered in Lansing, would restore employment protections for the handicapped.

Discrimination against a handicapped person who could perform the duties of a job with reasonable accommodations from the employers would be prohibited under the proposed law, currently being read on the state House floor.

Banning pocket
pagers in schools

High school students will be prohibited from carrying pocket telephone pagers in school under a Bill soon to go before the governor.

The proposed law gives local school boards the discretion to set their own penalties. The growing use of pagers by students suspected of dealing drugs in schools prompted the Bill.

Bill to protect news media

Protection of the news media will be broadened under a Bill currently in the judiciary committee in Lansing.

Under the Bill, the public's ability to sue broadcast or print media for libel when reports are based on public records is restricted, and malice would have to be proven in order to recover damages.

New environment
protection possible

A Bill that would create a new state environmental protection assistance fund for Michigan residents affected by environmental contamination is in the state House appropriations committee.

The fund would support awards to persons suffering the effects of environmental contamination who were unable to collect damages from any other source.

High speed rail
may be coming

A High Speed Rail Pact between Michigan, Illinois and Indiana would be created under legislation on the way to Governor Blanchard.

A High Speed Rail Commission would also be created to develop plans for creating a rapid rail system in the Detroit-Chicago corridor.

Fewer residents threaten seats in Congress

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

So far, we have been dealing entirely with the realm of conjecture and speculation.

— William Ford
U.S. Rep. (D-Taylor)

there might be no change. It's very hard to predict."

Schirm's area of expertise involves statistical adjustment to "undercount," a term referring to demographic groups, such as blacks and Hispanics, which fall notoriously shy of the true count during census-taking.

"Some demographic groups are undercounted at a much higher rate than whites," said Schirm. "During the 1980 census, 5 percent of all blacks were not counted, and non-blacks were overcounted by 1 percent."

What Schirm attempted to demonstrate was how census totals can be tallied differently using a variety of different estimation methods.

According to a regional office of the U.S. Census Bureau, located in Southfield, the Michigan population in 1980 was 9,262,000, compared to 9,200,000 in 1987. The population reached a low of 9,054,000 in 1983 and has been slowly increasing to 1980 levels.

Most people who migrated out of Michigan in 1980 moved to the sunbelt states — California, Texas, Arizona, Florida.

"Michigan is in bad shape," said Professor Robert Sedler, of Wayne State University Law School. "We will certainly lose one seat and very likely two. Michigan's population is relatively flat — we will not have increased significantly because of the migration patterns."

"States with stable populations will lose (congressional seats). New York, Illinois and Ohio have big delegations. Traditionally, that's where the population was centered — in the Midwest and Northeast."

Now, Sedler said, the population is shifting away from these traditional strongholds, and "nothing is going to stop that."

Sedler was involved in a 1980 legal battle to adjust the U.S.

census to compensate for undercount. The effort was not constitutionally successful. Another area in which Sedler has been involved was in proposals to exclude undocumented or illegal aliens from census figures. It was ruled that it is unconstitutional to exclude illegal aliens from those figures.

Federal law requires that the 435 congressional seats be apportioned as equally as possible. Armed with witness testimony, Ford, chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, will study the issue further to help clarify the status of the Michigan seats.

"So far, we have been dealing entirely in the realm of conjecture and speculation," said Ford. "We hope the hearing will provide some expert illumination that, in turn, will help us decide if there is anything we can do to save Michigan's congressional seats."

Drought

moisture to get into the grass, plants and trees," McNally said. "A light shower at this time won't do much to improve conditions."

Belleville Police Chief Willard Dockter also expressed concern about the possibility of careless use of fireworks on the Fourth of July weekend. In addition to fireworks, he said, there is a danger from sparklers.

"Youngsters throw away the sparklers while they are still very hot and this could start a grass fire," Dockter said. "Parents should caution their children about the dangers of fireworks and also supervise the use of the legal varieties and the sparklers."

Other communities are also concerned with the combination of dry weather and Fourth of July celebrating.

Most communities will proceed with the fireworks displays, but with a little extra caution.

Landfill opposition must find answers

It was predictable that a large turnout of area residents attended the public hearing regarding the re-licensing of the Wayne Disposal landfill in Van Buren Township last night.

Predictable, because there is a high degree of public concern over the issue of the safe disposal of hazardous waste, and, also because many local residents do not want a landfill in their community regardless of the safeguards and integrity of the operation — those with the NIMBY mind set who want landfills or incinerators located anywhere but "not in my back yard."

Therefore, it was not only anticipated, but expected, that a large number of people — those with legitimate concerns and comments and also those who strongly object to any landfill in their back yard — packed the township hall to express their views.

We applaud those who attended the meeting to express their concerns, observations and suggestions on the re-licensing of the facility, but, at the same time, we wonder whether those individuals will be as vocal and dedicated when another aspect of the solid waste issue comes before the public — the mandate to reduce residential solid waste by 75 percent in the next 12 years.

The proliferation of landfills and incinerators can only be halted when the public drastically reduces its waste by recycling, recovery and composting. Simply put: the need for additional acreage to store our trash will continue as long as the mountain of our personal discards continues to grow.

No solution to the problem of solid waste disposal will be possible until the citizens can become as dedicated to the task of reducing trash as they have been in showing their concern in existing and proposed disposal sites.

Conference boosts area

High school students have booster clubs for bands, sports and other areas of interest. So, too, do art groups, literary organizations and social networks have a driving force behind them to boost their efforts and eventual success.

Western Wayne County has the Conference of Western Wayne, one of the biggest boosters of the area to happen in decades.

The Conference of Western Wayne is a consortium of representatives from 17 area communities, who meet monthly to discuss items of mutual concern and interest. The conference is led by a board of directors and executive director, who depend on the support of each member community to implement any ideas originated.

And new ideas have never been in short supply.

Residents in the 17 member communities — including Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Belleville, Romulus and Van Buren, Sumpter and Canton townships — can send their gratitude to the CWW for a variety of recent projects. The CWW has been the impetus behind an emergency 911 telephone service for all of the surrounding communities, has acted as a lobbying agency for the interests of western Wayne County in state interpretation of the wetlands laws, has been a driving force behind a campaign to rid the area of landfills and reduce a dependency on solid waste and has kept in place a variety of worthwhile programs for senior citizens and young people.

In short, the CWW has been the booster club this area has needed for some time.

But the work of the CWW has only just begun.

Today, we laud the representatives on the CWW board and Chairman Charles Griffin, the mayor of Westland, and Vice Chairman R. Lynne Hamilton, the supervisor of Van Buren Township, for an impressive track record in the relatively short period of time the group has existed. We also offer some needed recognition for a group that many times goes unnoticed.

And, most of all, we challenge CWW board members to "keep up the good work." It is our firm belief that credit should be given where credit is due — and the CWW has our full support and praise.

Now, we are expecting an even stronger Conference of Western Wayne, a new list of ideas to benefit the area and a bigger boost than ever before. With seemingly never-ending economic development on the horizon, new population growth and a brighter image, western Wayne County needs a regional organization to promote the area.

With an already proven track record, the CWW can be the perfect "shot in the arm."

Open Meetings Act is valuable law

I do not write the editor often. This may be my first one. However, it has to do with the Open Meetings Act and freedom of information — two of the best pieces of legislation to ever come out of any governmental agency.

It is a shame that such legislation should even be necessary because some officials do not want the public to know what they are doing — specifically in regard to your campaign regarding Peoples Community Hospital Authority and your attempt to have an open meeting and alleged criticism of you for doing so.

Go for it — do it!

Thank God that there are newspapers, radio stations, T.V.s, etc., that will monitor public institutions, including governments, and spotlight any alleged infraction. Woe be the day that you or I don't have the right to challenge governments and elected officials for conducting business behind closed doors.

I am in your corner.

Canton Township Supervisor

School candidate's facts are challenged

I feel compelled to respond to some misleading information that was circulated by one school board candidate in the recent election. Mary Dahn incorrectly interpreted some Michigan Educational Assessment Program test results and, without having adequate background information, tried to use these test results to support her candidacy and to impugn the excellent reputation and integrity of our fine school district.

The purpose of the M.E.A.P. science test is to provide school districts and parents with a picture of how well their students are doing. The state assessment results are only one tool used by teachers and school administrators to look at student learning and consider ways to improve.

The intent is to show how well local district programs match with the state expectation for analyzing individual student performance on state specified minimum objectives.

These results must be viewed as an overall look at relative student strengths and needs rather than the only measure of success or failure.

State science testing was mandated only for the fall of 1986. Plymouth-Canton Community Schools volunteered to have students tested again in 1987. Because the process of curriculum revision is still going on, the design, organization and expectations of our curriculum remain different from many of the items tested. As a result of this, the performance of our students in science was not as high as we have been used to in reading and mathematics tests. This was true statewide — not just in Plymouth-Canton.

Use of MEAP test results for comparison of schools or school districts is inappropriate and misleading. In a November 1987 state Department of Education communication, Dr. Gary Hawks, acting superintendent of instruction, emphatically cautioned against such comparisons.

MEAP test results are useful in learning more about the strengths and needs of our students and our curriculum. As a tool, they are helpful in considering ways to improve.

Progress does not come overnight. Change is a process, not an event. You need to know we are working for improvement. It is unfortunate that Mrs. Dahn overlooked the fact that 448 students received state certificates for achieving 100 percent of the objectives on the MEAP test in 1987.

In the future, I would hope board candidates will not only give accurate information facts but seek explanation of the facts before attacking the established quality of our school system.

Strawberry festival was aided by many

And a good time was had by all at the Belleville Strawberry Festival. People having fun, enjoying themselves, families, friends, walking hand-in-hand.

Many people worked hard to cement together all those dangling strings to such fineness. But there is always one lone person who just feels the moment and expels with the strength of heart and soul the meaning of just how good it feels to be alive.

Officer Jim Haney, with only a microphone in hand, shouts out in baritone voice, "come on, I dare you. It's your turn to turn on us!"

"There, in the dunk tank, is my boss, the chief of police, who orders me. Come on, let's get him. Four balls for a dollar to sink my boss."

The crowd loved it! The kids from 6 to 76 splashed the chief again, again and again.

But, truly, we have within the midst of our Belleville community a person with a God-given talent that, with ease, is able to naturally extol his love for kids' sake! It's nice to know you, Jim!

Summertime cooking is easy as pie

just desserts

sue willett

Summertime and the livin' is easy...well, maybe not easy but most of us aren't quite as ambitious during the hot weather as we might be when the temperature falls.

But, hot or not, people have to eat and summertime desserts can be a real part of the enjoyment of the warm weather, unless, of course, the mercury hits the 90-degree mark. Then it's time for salads, carry outs and lots of ice cream.

One of the very best summertime creations to end a meal, especially a barbecue, is banana cream pie, and Jim Dodge of The Stanford Court in San Francisco produces one that almost equals my mother's. Almost. He loads it with bananas and adds just enough pastry cream to hold it together and always serves it very, very cold. This is really a wonderful treat and isn't as complicated as many of the offerings of most recognized pastry experts. The best part is that both the crust and the filling, minus the bananas, can be made the night before when the sun has gone down for serving the next day.

As soon as facing one more dish of ice cream becomes unbearable, or for a special summertime treat, give it a try.

Banana cream pie

8 tablespoons (1/4 pound) unsalted butter (cold)
1 1/8 cups all-purpose flour
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
1/8 teaspoon kosher salt
1/4 cup cold water

Cut the butter into 1-inch pieces. Using the paddle attachment on an electric mixer, blend the butter and flour at low speed until the mixture resembles coarse meal. Mix the sugar, salt and water and add to the flour mixture. Stop once, soon after you start mixing, to scrape the bowl and paddle. Blend only until the dough comes together. The dough will be moist, soft and smooth. On a well-floured table or board, place the dough and roll out into a 6-inch thick circle, then roll evenly from center to fit 9-inch pie pan. Flute edges. Line the shell with aluminum foil and fill with dry beans. Bake at 400 degrees 20 minutes. Remove foil and beans and continue baking until shell is golden brown, about 15 minutes.

1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 large egg
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons unsalted butter (soft)
1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract

Sift the sugar, flour and cornstarch together into a mixing bowl. Add the egg and beat until light. Bring the milk to a boil in a heavy-bottomed saucepan. Stir half the milk into the egg mixture, then pour the whole mixture back into the pan. Cook over high heat, stirring continuously with a wire whisk, until the center bubbles and the mixture is very thick. Stir vigorously to keep the mixture from sticking and the egg from scrambling. Remove from heat and stir in the butter and vanilla. Pour into a bowl, cover with plastic wrap and chill.

6 medium-sized bananas
1 cup fresh orange juice
2 cups whipping cream, whipped

Peel the bananas and cut into 1/2-inch slices. Toss them in a bowl with the orange juice to keep them from turning brown. Drain them well and pat dry with a paper towel. Fold the bananas into the chilled pastry cream. Pour into the cooled, baked pie shell and smooth the top of the filling. Top with whipped cream heaped into soft peaks or used with a number 7 pastry tube to decorate.

Barbecuing: American as apple pie

Butchers cook 'all' on the grill

By KIM KOESTER
ANP Special Writer

Baseball, hot dogs and apple pie. They are truly all-American favorites.

But two local businessmen-turned-chefs are hoping to add barbecuing to that list.

Rick Ziolkowski and Dale Freese, of Norman's Market, on Wayne Road, in Westland, claim they can cook "almost anything" on the open barbecue pit.

"If you work behind the counter, you know how to cook," they said.

Since both work as butchers at the local market, they often are asked to give their culinary secrets to customers.

Freese, whose father, Norman, founded the market 38 years ago, said "you have to enjoy cooking" to be successful. But experimentation is also important.

To help people break away from traditional barbecuing, Freese offers customers cooking tips that are "fast" for the working man and woman of today.

Both men cook on a Weber-brand grill. They praise it because the cover allows the heat to circulate around inside and cook the food from all sides. The Weber "is easy to cook on, once you learn how," Ziolkowski said, because the vents on the top and bottom allow you to regulate the heat.

Another advantage, both said, is that the coals can be saved and the food kept warm by closing the vents.

That mastery of the grill machinery has allowed the two to prepare such barbecued treats as swordfish, vegetable pockets, bell peppers, corn, spare ribs, chicken and shish kebabs with shrimp and vegetables. Ziolkowski has even cooked the Thanksgiving turkey on the grill, a turkey complete with barbecue gravy.

Regulating the heat is the key to barbecuing, the two said. Higher temperatures, Ziolkowski said, are for the traditional barbecue foods, such as hamburgers. Medium heat is for cooking foods such as roasts, ribs and chicken. The lower heat settings should be used to cook vegetables and to keep food warm.

Most would-be barbecue experts fall short because of a lack of knowledge in regulating temperatures and a mistaken haste in putting the barbecue sauce on foods.

"Sauce should not be put on before the last 15 minutes of cooking time," Freese said, "because it is mostly sugar, which will burn and become carbon."

Rotisseries aren't necessary with the round, covered grill, he added. A drip-pan in the center of the grill — among the coals, with the coals surrounding it and the meat centered above the pan — can work well as a more indirect method for cooking meats, Ziolkowski said.

"The drippings have a charcoal flavor," noted Freese, "and can be used for a sauce. The easiest sauce for shish kebab is Italian dressing."

Vegetables are, perhaps, the most difficult of the foods to prepare on the grill, Freese said. But placing them in foil pockets that can be taken off the grill and served is a huge helper.

The following recipes and barbecue bits of advice might also be helpful when trying your own hand at the open pit this summer.

Throw-together tomatoes

1 large onion, sliced
Butter
Pinch basil
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar

3 or 4 tomatoes, quartered
Canned onion rings

Mix onions, tomatoes and spices together. Place in foil pocket with pat of butter. Cook over medium heat, turning often, for 30 minutes. Open foil pouch. Sprinkle with onion rings. Serve.

Beef, chicken, fish or shrimp kebabs

Meat of choice
Onions
Green pepper
Tomatoes
Mushrooms (optional)

Rotate on skewer meat, onion, green pepper, tomato and mushroom (optional). Marinate shish kebabs in Italian dressing for two hours before cooking. Place on medium, direct heat, turning often. Cook 15 minutes for fish or shrimp, 20 to 25 minutes for beef or chicken.

NOTE: Shrimp should be peeled and cleaned. With fish, orange roughy is best in strips and weaved on. With chicken, use breasts, preferably, cut into 1-inch cubes. With beef, sirloin is best, cut into 1-inch cubes.

Cheesy barbecued onions

8 medium onions
1 1/2 cup bread dressing
1 cup shredded cheddar
1/2 cup melted butter
1/3 cup hot water

Clean onions and slice into thirds. To the bread dressing, add cheese, hot water and butter. Mix well. Place a tablespoon of dressing on each onion. Slice. Wrap in foil and place on edge of grill for 30 to 40 minutes.

Zany zucchini

2 medium zucchinis
1 medium onion

2 medium tomatoes
6 medium mushrooms
Salt
Pepper
Garlic
Pinch of dillweed

Cut zucchini in half length-wise and cut into 1-inch pieces. Slice onion, quarter tomatoes and cut mushrooms in half. Mix all together with seasonings. Place 1 cup into pouch (instructions follow). Place on medium grill for 30 minutes, turning often.

Foil pockets for veggies

Tear off a piece of 36-by-18-inch foil. Fold in half to make a square. Fold the sides by using your fist to form a pouch. Place veggies in this pouch. Fold all edges together to seal tightly — but always leave space for expansion from steam.

Any combination of veggies works well in the foil pockets and carries the barbecue flavor. You can serve your veggies right in the foil pockets!

Corn on the cob

Soak corn (husk on) for two hours in cold water. Place on medium heat on grill, turning frequently. Cook for 30 minutes.

Swordfish

Salt and pepper or Cajun-spice your swordfish. Cook over medium direct heat on one side for 7 minutes. Turn and place pat of butter on each piece. Cook for 5 minutes.

Barbecue ribs

Salt and pepper ribs. Wrap in foil, tightly sealed. Place on rack for 1 hour on direct, medium heat. Remove ribs. From foil, place on rack and sauce. Cook for 15 to 20 minutes.

Henning - Kouba

Laura Jean Henning, of Onsted, and Jeffrey Kevin Kouba, of New Boston, were married April 9 at the St. Joseph Catholic Shrine, in Irish Hills. The Rev. Edmond Ertzbischoff officiated during the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Henning, of Onsted. She is a graduate of Onsted High School and Jackson Community College. She works for Irwin Magnetic Systems Inc., in Ann Arbor.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kouba, of New Boston.

The bridal gown was a ball-gown silhouette dress of crystal organza with a satin bodice and bateau neckline, featuring silk and Venice lace with pearls and sequins. The sleeves were ruffled and short. Her veil was of crystal organza and was held by a

Barbecue chicken

Take chicken pieces seasoned with salt and pepper and cook on medium heat for 45 minutes. Sauce and cook for 15 minutes. Do not put sauce on until the very end.

Indirect heat cooking

Here are a few barbecue cooking hints for most meats.

Turkey - Put drip pan in middle, coals on side, with medium heat. Take an 18-pound turkey, stuffed, and cook for 4 1/2 to 5 hours. Don't start with high heat. Medium-low is best. Add coals after two hours.

Rolled roast - For a 5- to 6-pound roast, used medium heat, cook in the middle of the grill for 1 hour, 45 minutes.

Standing rib roast - For a 6- to 8-pound roast, cook over medium heat. Add coals as necessary. Cook in the middle of the grill for 3 hours.

Pork roast - For a 4- to 5-pound roast, use medium heat. To achieve "well done" (but not dried out), cook for 2 1/2 hours.

Remember, when possible, use a meat thermometer.

WHAT ARE THE CANCER TREATMENTS?

Women have choices they didn't have before. In fact, women now are given a brochure from the State of Michigan which explains the law on the doctor's responsibility in offering options to the patient besides the traditional modified mastectomy (removal of the entire breast, nipple, lymph nodes).

One option is removal of the lump (lumpectomy), followed by an outpatient procedure, removal of the lymph nodes from underneath the arm to determine whether chemotherapy will be needed the first year after surgery.

The woman then sees an X-ray therapist for X-ray (radiation) therapy, Mondays through Fridays for about five weeks. In some cases radiation implants are placed in the breast to supplement the external radiation therapy. This can be followed by chemotherapy (the use of drugs to destroy cancer cells), if the lymph nodes have tumors in them.

Still another option would be the modified radical mastectomy, which means removal of the nipple and the breast tissue and the lymph nodes underneath the arm but not the muscles.

Remember, we're making progress every day. Through careful detective work, you can take advantage of it.

BE YOUR OWN DETECTIVE IN THE FIGHT AGAINST BREAST CANCER!

By Floyd H. Lipa, M.D.

This is the third in a series of articles devoted to women and their fight against breast cancer. Much progress is being made in breast cancer detection, diagnosis, treatment, and breast reconstruction.

Your best chance to take advantage of this progress is to become more aware of any changes in your breasts and to learn everything you can about treatment. Be a thorough detective.

This week I will discuss the various treatments for breast cancer.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I FIND A LUMP?

See your doctor immediately. Your doctor will examine you and probably order X-rays (mammogram). If the lump is definite, a gynecologist or general surgeon could do a "skinny needle" biopsy. Still, if the results are not definite, your physician may order a more formal biopsy and remove living tissue. This tissue will be examined very carefully by a pathologist to determine if cancer is present. Before the biopsy, you should ask your doctor about the "estrogen and progesterone receptor assay" test to determine if the cancer growth is stimulated by female hormones. This information will help in planning additional hormone therapy treatment.

Ashley signs with Los Angeles Dodgers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After setting almost every major baseball record at Belleville High, Bill Ashley has signed a professional baseball contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Ashley, a 6 feet, 7, 200-pound outfielder-pitcher, finished the 1988 high school season with an incredible .603 batting average en route to all-conference (Wolverine A), All-Area, and All-State recognition. He is the first player in recent years to sign a pro contract from Belleville. He is the second from the Associated Newspapers' area, following the footsteps of Pat

Sheridan who played his collegiate baseball at Eastern Michigan University before inking a contract with the Kansas City Royals and presently playing for the Detroit Tigers.

Ashley helped Belleville post their first winning season (16-11) in recent years.

"Ashley is probably the best player I have ever coached," said Belleville Coach John Bertz. "I know we are all proud of him and wish him all the luck in the world."

Upon signing with the Dodgers, Ashley was assigned to the organization's ball club in Sarasota, Florida.

Ashley played in 27 games this season and finished with that record-shattering .603 batting average. He hit .573 in the conference and was an unanimous choice as an all-conference player.

Ashley also hammered 11 home runs, a school record, during the 1988 campaign; he scored 41 times and batted in another 36. Fast on the basepaths, Ashley also managed to steal 13 of the 14 times he attempted.

As a pitcher, Ashley finished with a 3-4 overall record and a 3.94 earned run average.

All-Area: A baseball team that hates to lose

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Major League baseball scouts have already raided the ranks of the 1988 Associated Newspapers' All-Area team. They drafted Belleville High slugger Bill Ashley.

Ashley, a 6-7 senior who drilled a record-setting 11 homers en route to a phenomenal .603 batting average, was drafted by the Los Angeles Dodgers. He began his professional baseball career last week with that organization's Sarasota (Florida) ball club.

The Belleville star is among 10 players honored on this year's All-Area baseball team, selected by the Associated Newspapers' sports staff and area coaches.

Among those picked to the elite club include Ashley's teammates Scott Janack and Phil Feist; from Romulus are Steve Hoinka and Brad Boyd; Robichaud, Ken Wood; Inkster - Skip Overmeyer; and from New Boston Huron - Andy Jackson and Dan Vandecar.

Ashley has lettered three years as a Tiger. He bats and throws righthanded and during his 27 appearances this season managed to score 41 runs and had 36 RBIs. He also stole 13 times in 14 attempts.

Considered the finest ball player to don a Belleville baseball uniform in recent years, Ashley had a score of college and university scouts seeking his signature on a letter of intent.

"I believe I can say that he is one of the best athletes to ever come out of this area," noted Belleville Coach John Bertz. "He has a tremendous amount of potential."

Here is a brief sketch and the credentials of the 1988 All-Area high school baseball team:

JANACK, a junior, played over illness and injuries to contribute to a winning Belleville season. The 6-1, 165-pound outfielder missed the first week of action due to an appendectomy and midway in the year cut his hand going to the fence in hopes of stopping a HR ball. The cut required 27 stitches to close.

While he was in the lineup, Janack batted a hefty .375, accounting for five home runs and 27 runs batted in. The 27 RBI output was second best on the team. Scott also scored 12 times and batted in the No. 4 slot, behind Ashley. He had a perfect 8 for 8 in the base stealing category.

"He's one heck of a competitor," said Belleville Coach John Bertz. "Someone with a weaker disposition would have stayed sidelined after suffering the cut - but Scotty is tough and he's one of the reasons why I felt this team was my best."

Feist personifies the type of player the All-Area team is made up of - they hate to lose. They are dedicated to the game of baseball.

— Selection Committee

JACKSON, a brilliant student who is a versatile athlete, earned All-Area recognition as a basketball player as well. Nominated to the Naval Academy, Jackson launched his senior year batting a torrid .400. But he watched that average dwindle under the heat and pressure of competing in one of the finer baseball leagues (Huron Conference) in the state. He finished with a .250 batting average.

The captain of the club, Jackson may choose Adrian if he doesn't get his appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

"Andy is a very quiet, reserved and hard-working athlete," commented Huron Coach Jon Lebeau. "He is the kind of player every coach needs on a team. He accepts his assignments and carries them out always giving you 100 percent."

VANDECAR, also an outfielder who handled the first base chores, finished his second year on the Chiefs' varsity squad with a .341 batting lineup. He was named the team's Most Improved Player and like Jackson earned all-conference recognition in a year that the Chiefs had to struggle to stay above water.

An outstanding student, Vandecar also was nominated to the Naval Academy and is contemplating a military career.

WOOD, who was named as Robichaud's (Westwood School District) valedictorian, was an All-Area football candidate. His performance behind the plate earned him recognition as one of the finest backstops on the high school scene this season.

An all-Suburban Athletic Conference first team choice, Ken brought the curtains down on the 1988 season with a .423 batting average. The New York Mets have shown interest in Wood's baseball talents, but he appears headed for college, for now, according to school officials. The 5-9, 190-pound athlete has been an Honors' Student the four years he attended Robichaud High.

FEIST, a lanky 5-10, 140-pounder, posted an outstanding 6-1 overall record on the mound. Although not considered a power pitcher, the feisty righthanded Tiger hurler has a wide range of deceiving pitches. He notched 30 strikeouts and developed into Belleville's most reliable pitcher during the 1988 campaign. When not on the mound, Feist saw duty as a second baseman.

"Feist is one of the most intense players I have coached," Bertz said. "He was the team leader and loves to play the game - and he doesn't like to lose."

HOINKA, one of the bright spots in a dismal Romulus season, led the Eagles in hits with 38 and batted .346 for the year, a year that Romulus made their debut in the tough South Central Conference.

He also hammered three home runs and, on defense, played near flawlessly at third base. The 6-2, 185-pound senior has been a member of the varsity team for the past three years.

STOKES, the lone representative from Inkster, is another diehard ball player who was named to the All-Suburban Athletic Conference team despite the Vikings poor showing in the conference. A 5-11, 170-pound junior used as a pitcher-first baseman, Stokes batted .312 for the year.

He is also a member of the Honor Society and "should help form the nucleus of a winning team in 1989", according to the Viking coaches.

Bertz Coach of the Year

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Three years ago, John Bertz took over the Belleville High varsity baseball team.

At that time the Tigers were floundering in the Wolverine "A" Conference and like the Detroit Pistons of old and the Detroit Lions of present day, Belleville was never considered a serious title threat.

And at that time Bertz vowed things would change for the better.

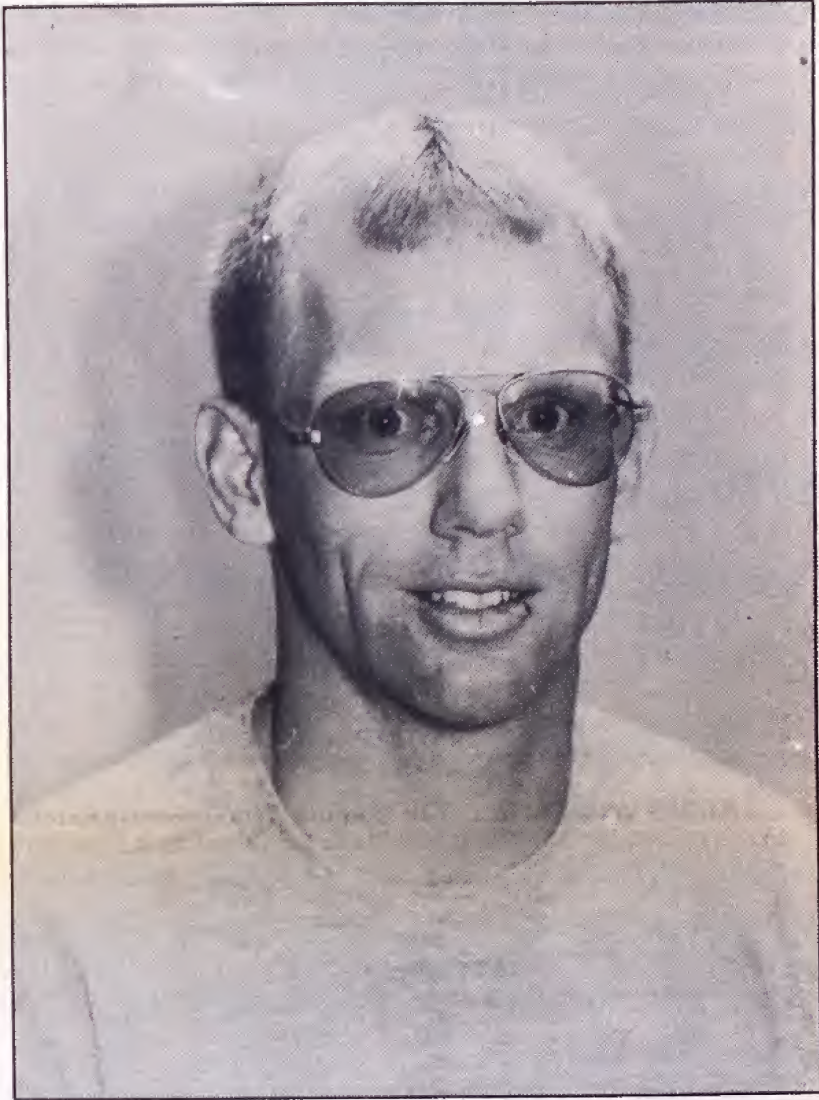

They have. Belleville emerged from the depths of the conference and has become a power to contend with in the Wolverine "A". In fact, this year's team was in the midst of the conference title war right up to the final two weeks.

"I believe I can say that no one took us lightly this year," Bertz said. "If they did, they paid for it."

Belleville finished the 1988 campaign with a 16-11 overall record, their first winning season in recent years. In his first year the Tigers went 8-13 and last year they were a 11-14 club.

For his accomplishments, the Associated Newspapers have selected Bertz as its "Coach of the Year."

"This team had a lot of character," Bertz pointed out. "We are definitely moving in the right direction."

Born and raised in Ann Arbor, Bertz played his high school baseball at Ann Arbor Huron. He earned his bachelor of science degree from Eastern Michigan University and returned to Huron to coach the junior varsity team.

Five years later he moved to Gabriel Richard (Ann Arbor) to handle the head coaching job.

Like most successful coaches, Bertz realizes that coaching isn't a seasonal affair. Once the high school campaign ended, he got most of his players to compete in the Connie Mack League. When the summer is over, Bertz plans programs for his players that include weightlifting and physical strength drills.

"I have said it during the season and I will repeat it again. I felt that the 1988 Belleville High varsity team was the best I have coached. But I felt that we should have done even better."

"My biggest disappointment was in the district playoffs," Bertz concluded.

As a pitcher, Stokes racked up two victories in his six starts this year.

BOYD, first string all-South Central, rounded out his senior year with an enviable .345 batting average.

"Brad is an excellent college prospect who is leaning toward Olivet College," said Romulus Coach Dennis Stoh. "He's an excellent all-around player."

SHELBY is also a SCC choice. The Romulus junior catcher will be returning next year to improve upon a .308 batting average.

A 6-3, 190-pound athlete who completed his first year of varsity competition, Stoh looks upon Shelby as playing a leadership role for the 1989 club."

OVERMEYER, also a Suburban Athletic Conference selection, is an outstanding second baseman whose acuity on defense saved at least two games for the Bulldogs.

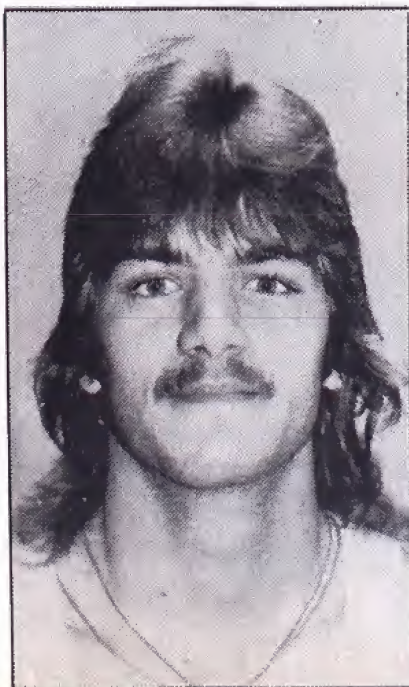

A 5-8, 165-pound junior, Skip has the ability to lead the Bulldogs to a SAC championship a year from now.

Others nominated to the 1988 All-Area Lineup included: Derrick Gipson (Robichaud, outfielder); Ken Blevins (Designated Hitter, Romulus - sophomore); Lee Kewley (Inkster - Third Base); Tyrone Moore (Inkster - outfielder); Mike Emery (New Boston Huron - Designated Hitter); Joseph McLeod (New Boston Huron - junior catcher); Vince Sacco (Belleville - short stop); Blaine Armstrong (Belleville - Outfield); and Jerry Bitner (Belleville - First base).

Tourney dates are set

ANP Staff Writer

Johnnie Sims was an outstanding athlete. And he loved softball and baseball. When he was killed during a brawl in Inkster, his friends never forgot him or his death. They have kept his memory alive with a "Johnnie A. Sims Memorial 'Open' Slow Pitch Softball Tournament."

Dates for the second annual tournament have been set for July 15, 16, and 17.

"Last year we had approximately 32 teams in this tournament," said Ruth E. Williams, athletic supervisor for the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department. "I believe we will have an equal number of teams in this year's tournament."

The tournament will bring together some of the finest men's softball teams in the area and the state. The double elimination format is sanctioned by the American Softball Association.

All players must be 18 years of age or older. Each team will be allowed to carry up to 18 players and there will be awards presented to the championship as well as the runner-up team.

In the meantime, recreation officials said that they are sponsoring a "One Day Baseball Skills Clinic" for players 15 and under, players in the junior high and elementary age group.

The clinic will be conducted in July and for registration information, players (or parents) are asked to contact the Recreation Complex at 728-7530.

Junior Olympics countdown begins

The countdown has begun for the 1988 Junior Olympics countdown which will be staged beginning 10 a.m. July 12 at the Westwood Park.

The Olympics are sponsored by the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department.

Recreation officials will be conducting various track and field events during the early summer that will lead up to the Olympics. Boys and girls, ages 9 through 14, may try out for the city track team. Those who qualify will advance to the Olympics.

For those who qualify, the regional Hershey Track & Field Invitational will be conducted on Friday, July 15 in Howell.

Winners at Howell will advance to the state meet, which will be staged in Hershey, Pennsylvania on Aug. 18 through Aug. 21.

Inkster boasts two athletes who advanced to the state level in 1986 and 1987. The winners of the qualifying meet on July 12 will also advance to the Youth Fitness Meet as representatives of the city of Inkster.

That award was brought home to Inkster by city athletes in 1977, 1980 and also in 1986.

Inkster to have field day

Softball, relay races and talents shows will be on the program for the annual Inkster "Field Day" scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 13 at the Westwood Park.

"There will be a full day of fun and enjoyment for the entire family," said Ron Wolkowicz, Inkster Parks and Recreation supervisor.

Among planned activities include: Playoff games for the instructional, baseball and softball leagues.

Brendco edges Village Ford, 1-0

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In the best defensive game of the young season, league-leading Brendco edged Village Ford, 1-0, to widen its lead over second-place Toni's Nite Club in the Romulus Women's Softball League.

Brendco is sitting atop of the standings with a 10-1 won-lost record, while Toni's is a two games off the pace with an 8-3 mark.

Both Brendco and Village Ford had three hits, but the winners managed to end a scoreless tie with what proved to be the winning run in the bottom of the sixth. The winners got singles from Sandy Wood, Diane Scarborough and Bessie Wood with Monica Offman's sacrifice accounting for the winning run.

On the other side of the ledger, Carrie Linder, Janeal Eberline and Beth Stewart each had singles.

In the meantime, Chrysler Softball Club continued its winning streak as it posted its sixth victory in as many starts this season.

But Double Eagle fell two games off the pacesetter's pace as it dropped a 7-4 decision to Johnston's/Litho. Johnston's built up a 5-3 lead after two innings, then added single runs in the fifth and seventh innings while Double Eagle got two runs in the first and scored one each in the second and sixth innings, respectively.

Paul Sporer led the winners with four hits, while, Keith Johnston, Glenn Carr and Randy Noe each had two hits. The Double Eagle wasted a pair of hits from Jeff Rhodes, Mike Collins, Mike Crawford and Ron Smith. Mike Rhodes drilled a homer and single and had two RBIs for the losers.

In other matchups, Ed's Hangar Lounge buried Birelar Electric 16-2 as Kevin Morine homered, singled and drove in two runs for the winners. Steve Shuffeldt missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to homer, but he made his single, double, and triple count for three runs batted in. Gary Johnson, Rog Cripps and Jim McClean each had two hits for the winners.

The victory stretched Ed's victory string to six games, and dropped Birelar's record to 3-3 on the season. The losers received two hits from Paul Debuscher. Teammates Dave Dittmar, Harry Hunter and Joe Rohde each had singled for the losers.

In the men's Monday/Wednesday Division, Poly Car Wash outlasted Davis Auto Body, 12-10, to remain in the title cash in that division. Mark Bratcher led the winners with three hits, including a pair of doubles which opened the door to four RBIs. John Theide had three singles and Thomas Coltrain checked in with a pair of singles.

For the losers, Art Williamson knocked in three runs and Dave McBride finished with a single and a double.

Renee Johnson...beauty in muscles.

Romulus beauty flexes her muscles

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder, the saying goes.

And a Romulus beauty who has achieved fame in the field of body building, will show off her muscles on national television July 3 when she will appear on ESPN Cable at 9 p.m.

Renee Johnson, a 1973 graduate of Romulus High, and daughter of Lex and Savilla Johnson of Romulus, is one of the featured bodybuilders who will relate how you, too, can have a beautiful body. Renee recently placed second at a national bodybuilding contest staged in North Carolina, according to her mother.

"Body building is something she has loved," said Mrs. Johnson. "She has won a score of trophies and prizes in regional and national contests."

Those who miss the cable TV program on July 3, can catch it on July 31.

INSIDE

FUN FOR ALL: From carnival rides, games, contests, a parade and a fireworks display, the Canton Country Festival this year is chock full of fun and excitement for all who attend. And, in addition to the old "regulars," a few new bits of excitement have been added

HISTORY OF SUCCESS: What began as the Canton Corn Festival has now blossomed into the Canton Country Festival event, which annually attracts thousands of residents to the area. But where did it all begin?

6

BEATING THE BANDS: Which local band will take the unofficial title away at the festival this year during the "Battle of the Bands" competition. What performer can top the authenticity of Dave King and his Elvis Presley impersonation. And what more could someone ask for in entertainment? Plenty

7

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS: When are the variety of activities scheduled during the five-day event? Who can participate? A schedule of events will provide answers to those questions and others

8

FIREWORKS FESTIVITIES: The obvious highlight of the festival each year is the fireworks display, which marks the birthday of the nation. This year, fireworks organizers say the show will be bigger than ever. It all begins at 10:40 p.m. Saturday, July 2

10

BEHIND THE FIREWORKS: For five years, one local business has been behind the success story of the fireworks displays. Jim Burda and his Burda Bros. fireworks distributorship organize the display and fund it. Why?

11

FESTIVAL FACES: The many, many hours of legwork necessary to make the show a success each year must be recognized. So must the seven members of the Canton Country Festival committee who have worked throughout the past year to plan for the July event. Who are they?

13

CANTON COUNTRY FESTIVAL:

Canton Township residents will be flying away in their balloons of excitement this weekend, as the annual country festival kicks off. Activities begin with the festival parade and continue throughout the five-day, July 4 weekend. One highlight of the event, however, has to be the fireworks display, set for 10:40 p.m. Saturday, July 2.

COMING UP

4-H FAIR: Everyone loves a fair, especially when it is based right here in western Wayne County. The annual fair is set in the county fairgrounds, in Belleville, and will feature many of the old favorite contests and rides - and a few new activities to make the event sparkle

July 13

CHRISTMAS IN JULY: Just when you thought you had vacuumed the last pine needle from the carpet, thoughts of yuletide happiness are here again. Yes, it's a Christmas in July store, and it means countless savings and bargains galore from area merchants

July 20

One never knows what to expect during the annual Canton Country Festival, set this year from June 30 to July 4. Last year, festival-goers were treated to a variety of "hot" forms of entertainment, including that of a flame-thrower. Special ANP photo

FUN FOR ALL

Festival is packed with events for all who attend

By THOMAS M. VARCIE

The Canton Country Festival will be more than a carnival this year. Much more, according to festival organizers.

A long list of events is set for the five-day festival, to be staged behind the Canton Township hall, on Canton Center Road, between Cherry Hill and Michigan Avenue.

Each day of the festival, a variety of music, shows and special events is planned, according to Dave Bone, festival chairman.

The festival parade will kick off the event at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 30. The parade will begin on Ford Road, at Lilley, and proceed to the Meijer parking lot.

Carnival rides also begin at 6 p.m. Thursday.

Friday is for the millionaires' party, from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. in the Las Vegas tent. Las Vegas-style excitement will be ever-present, with blackjack, craps and a wheel, according to Russ Courville, festival vice president.

"This is a very big success. It really helps us out a lot with funding, and it is a big success," Courville said. "Last year, we made $5,100. That was net profit. We made almost $7,000, but we had to pay for tent rental, rental equipment. This all helps to pay for the festival costs."

And although lady luck is queen and the luck of the Canton resident is admired, a $500-per-person daily limit will be in place for all participants.

The millionaires' party is also set from 3 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday, July 2.

B-I-N-G-O is how other festival-goers will spell fun and excitement from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, July 3, in the Las Vegas tent. There is an admission charge, and jackpots will be based on the number of people participating. Payouts could be as little as $4 or as much as $25, Courville said.

"We hope to have it bigger this year," Courville said. "We have one Knights of Columbus Hall helping us on this. The last two years, it hasn't been too big. We expect it to be big this year. The people running it seem to be very enthusiastic."

To play bingo and to join in the millionaires' party, people must be at least 18 years old.

But wait . . . there's more! The Canton Township Championship Rodeo is set for 7 p.m. Friday, July 1. This is the sixth year for the event of man and animal competition.

An arts and crafts show is also set from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, July 2. Items to be sold include fabric items, wood, jewelry, stained glass, homemade honey, flower make-ups, country folk arts and a variety of other crafts, according to Arlene Woods, arts and crafts chairperson.

In all, about 35 people will be involved in the show, selling and showing off their merchandise. All of the handmade crafts will be under one tent for the convenience of the festival-goers.

"All of the items are handmade. Nothing is prefabricated or kit-made. The sales are usually pretty good, and there always appears to be good merchandise," Woods said. "It's usually a pretty big hit with the people. They seem to enjoy walking around and looking at everything. It should be really successful this year."

Flying enthusiasts might want to take a peek at the Flying Pilgrims Model Airplane Club display, at 11 a.m. Saturday, July 2.

The event will be staged on a soccer field near the fairgrounds. It begins at 4 p.m. Saturday.

How about some magic? John The Magician performs at 1 p.m.

And the King? Elvis? Straight from . . . er . . . Kalamazoo? Probably one of the biggest events for the festival is the performance of Elvis Presley impersonator Dave "King," set for 8:45 p.m. Saturday, July 2.

"We're looking for a real good show from him. This will be a real Las Vegas-style show that he puts on, and we're very excited to have him perform for us. He'll be bringing in about 10 people in his band. He sings like Elvis and with all the lights and glitter. It should be excellent," Bone said.

CHANGING TIMES

From corn to the country, Canton festival has grown

By THOMAS M. VARCIE

The Canton Country Festival has changed dramatically in size and style since it began more than 10 years ago, according to Mike Gouin, superintendent of the Canton Parks and Recreation Department.

The original festival began in the mid-1970s as the Canton Corn Festival. It was then sponsored by the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

"It started as a chicken and corn roast, and more and more events were added each year. It was really a community and Chamber event, and that's when the citizens formed a festival committee," Gouin said.

The original location of the festival was at Griffin Park. From there, the event was moved to the current location, behind the Canton Township Administration Building, on Canton Center Road.

Carnival rides were added in 1981. They, too, moved with the festival to the current site.

The timing of the festival has also undergone change during the years, Gouin explained.

"The dates on the festival have really changed. We tried to move it to the second week of June, but it always seemed to conflict with Belleville's Strawberry Festival and Father's Day. So we chose this date," Gouin said.

Nevertheless, one of the most positive changes has been the amount of support given by residents in the community.

"It really has grown in phases. The tents moved in, the rodeo came, the fireworks followed. It's just been all in phases," said Gouin.

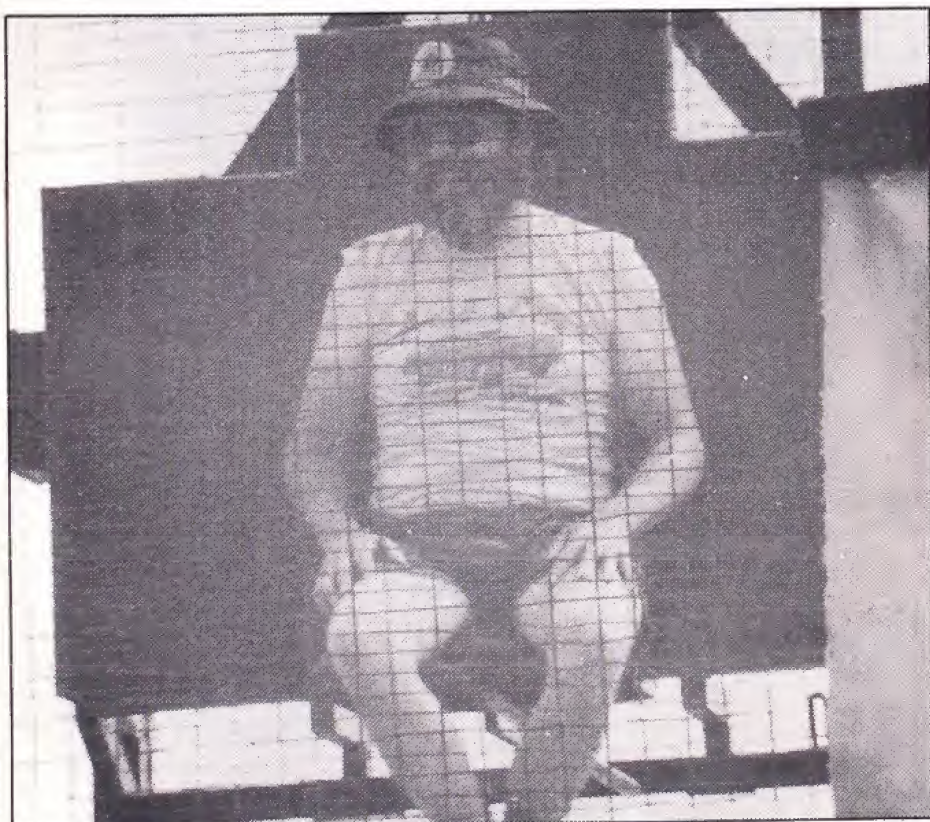

Festival Chairman Bill Simmerer agreed.

"The biggest change is probably growth of the festival. Every year, we try to do different things for it. It's hard to point at one thing because it's been so much and such a wide area."

Not only does the Canton Festival have growth, however, it also is unique, according to Dave Bone, entertainment chairman of the festival.

"It is unique because, first, we are a nonprofit festival put on by the township. They are the main helpers. Second, it is a real community involvement. It's not just one person or group. It's the whole community. And, third, everybody helps," Bone said.

"We get a lot of support by the township employees. They've never put roadblocks or obstacles in the way. They've always taken them down."

All wet

In addition to good food, a fantastic fireworks display and socializing with friends and neighbors, the Canton Country Festival offers a variety of game booths. Festival-goers may want to try their hand at the dunk tank to relieve pent-up tension and stress. Dave Bone, 1988 entertainment chairman, received a turn in the booth (shown here in a "dry" moment) last year. Special photo to ANP

AT LAST

Festival smells, sounds mean fun is in the air

By THOMAS M. VARCIE

The smell of fresh popcorn and plump hot dogs greets visitors at the entrance of the fairgrounds. The roar of the carnival rides and live music can be heard in the breeze.

Ah, it's Canton Country Festival time at last.

The smell of food and sounds of the bands are a big part of the festival, according to Dave Bone, entertainment chairperson. Of particular note is the "Battle of the Bands" event, set from 8 p.m. to midnight Friday, July 1.

In the competition, several local bands will perform for one-half hour on stage. Each band will be given $50 to play a set. After all bands have performed, judges will choose the best. That band will then perform another half-hour set and will be awarded $50.

"We offer free publicity, $50, a chance for them to play their stuff, and they have a chance of being on television (through Omnicom Cable)," Bone said. "This really gets the local bands some publicity and attention. They're pretty good local bands, and it gives them a start."

Bands scheduled include: Affirmative Action, a heavy metal group;

Short Notice, also a rock-n-roll group; Rockstalgia, playing music from the 1950s and '60s; and Cauldron, which "plays just about anything."

Last year was the debut of the "Battle of the Bands" event, a smashing success, according to Bone.

"It was really good last year. We had a lot of people attend it. I expect we'll probably do about the same this year."

Meanwhile, festival-goers not interested in the bands competition can find fun and amusement on the Pugh Show carnival rides, food booths and "the cleanest midway around," according to Bone.

"They have a reputation of having one of the cleanest midways around. The carnival is always very successful. Everything in it is new and clean, and they are real good people that run it," he said.

Several spectacular rides, kiddie rides, games of chance and skill and food will be available to carnival-goers. Several of the food booths are sponsored by local organizations.

Carnival hours are 6:30 p.m. to midnight Thursday, 6 p.m. to midnight Friday and 10 a.m. to midnight Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The bombs will be bursting in the air beginning at 10:40 p.m. Saturday, July 2. The fireworks display is the highlight of the festival. The display is estimated to be approximately 45 minutes in length and attract more than 10,000 people to the festival grounds. ANP file photo

BURSTING BOMBS

The patriots and fireworks make festival celebration

By THOMAS M. VARCIE

Everyone loves a parade — or so the song says. And those parade enthusiasts will be in their glory

Thursday, June 30 as the Canton Country Festival event kicks off.

The festival, staged Thursday, June 30 through Monday, July 4, will feature music, dancing and a fireworks display.

The festival parade will mark the beginning of the event, featuring several entertainers, groups — and even politicians, according to Parade Chairperson Sue Fannin.

The procession begins at 8 p.m. on Ford Road at Lilley. Participants will make their way from there to the Meijer parking lot, on Canton Center Road. The event should last one hour.

"This will be the official kickoff of the festival this year," Fannin said. "We sort of reinstated the parade last year. It was pretty successful last year, and we decided to do it again."

Last year, a "decent sized" crowd watched the parade and celebrated the kickoff of the annual festival. This year, more people are expected, Fannin said.

One thing that will attract more festival-goers is the parade, which has a new route, according to Bill Simmerer, festival chairman.

"Last year, we had a longer path for the parade. Now, it's more in the central business district. This year, it is shorter," Simmerer said.

Besides traditional bands and floats, the Canton Country Festival parade offers a variety of local participants, Fannin said.

Expected at the parade will be: four Cub Scout packs from the area; appearances by representatives from Elias Brothers and the Land Company of Michigan; politicians; members of clubs, such as the Canton VFW, the Lion's Club and Canton Republican Club; and other favorites, such as the Precision Stroller Team, Canton senior citizen groups and Canton Historical Society members.

As the parade ends, the festival fun begins. The five-day event will be highlighted by a fireworks display, set for 10:40 p.m. Saturday, July 2.

The sky that night will be filled with snaps, crackles and booms, enough to excite anyone, according to Dave Bone, entertainment chairperson.

The show is sponsored by Burda Bros. Inc. of Canton, and is expected to be about 45 minutes in length. The fireworks will be lighted in an area behind the Canton Township hall, on one of the soccer fields, Bone said.

"It's going to be one of the bigger displays in the area. It will be viewed from just about anywhere, and we urge people to bring their children," Bone said. "There will be the big and small fireworks, and we're expecting a big show."

In the past, the shows have been well-attended, Bone said. About 10,000 people are expected to attend this year.

Getting home from the fireworks won't be a problem, either. Parking will be available on the festival grounds, the soccer field and behind the township hall.

Burda Bros. officials keep bombs bursting over Canton

By THOMAS M. VARCIE

At 10:40 p.m. Saturday, July 2, Jim Burda will sit back and enjoy the Canton Country Festival fireworks - the fireworks display he organized and sponsored.

As the approximately 10,000 people gape in awe at the 45-minute display this year, Burda will soak in the "ooohs" and "aaaahs" aimed directly at his masterpieces.

Burda Bros. Inc. of Canton, is owned by Jim. He and several family members opened the fireworks distributorship and importer warehouses about 10 years ago. This is the fifth year of coordinating the Canton display.

"We were approached by the festival committee five years ago to do the festival. This year, the show will be 45 minutes and the best one ever for us," Burda said. "It will be better than last year."

Burda Bros. Inc. does not light or shoot the fireworks, Burda said. Money is donated to the show by Burda Bros., and the fireworks are purchased from a distributor.

"We really pay for the fireworks, show and time for people doing the fireworks," Burda said. "There is no cost for the Canton Festival at all."

The show, he said, has always been successful in Canton. Part of the reason for the success is because of his smooth organization plan.

"A lot of people come to see our show. It is very successful. They come from all over. But, we really enjoy working with the Canton Festival Committee. We try to put a better show on every year. The festival has been really good to me," said Burda, who is a 1976 immigrant from the Soviet Union. He attended Moscow University.

In addition to being the sponsor of the Canton Festival fireworks, the Burda company also sells to companies in Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, Florida and Michigan. Chain stores and drug stores are also customers of the firm.

Fireworks are a way of life for Jim Burda (above), an owner of the Burda Bros. Inc. fireworks distributors. The Canton Township firm has organized and sponsored the festival fireworks display for the last five years - and will do so again this year. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

Canton Country festival-goers may opt to try their hand at the softball throw or dunk tank this year. Or they could try their luck in the Las Vegas tent. And then there are the musical acts, the magic show. . . Nevertheless, he who goes to the festival this year will have plenty of things to do to keep busy. Incidentally, the Pugh Show carnival rides are open at 6 p.m. Thursday, June 30 and remain open throughout the five-day event. Here, Russ Courville, festival committee vice president, prepares his aim for the dunk tank during the festival last year. Special photo to ANP

Weyerhaeuser LifeWood TREATED LUMBER

Guaranteed 2-Ways

with Church's Exclusive "BUCK A BOARD" Guarantee

1. Guaranteed for Appearance

We are so confident in the appearance of our treated lumber when used for your deck top or railing that we guarantee your satisfaction in that if any piece of treated lumber (2x4, 2x6, 5/4x6) is not usable for your deck top or railing due to covered defect, simply return the piece and receive a new piece and a "Buck ($1.00) A Board" for your trouble.

This program subject to terms and conditions posted in store.

2. Guaranteed for Durability

Under high pressure (.40 retention) waterborne preservatives are permanently forced deep into the cellular structure of the wood. This locked in preservative gives us lifelong protection against termites, rot and decay. This protection assures you your outdoor project has been built with quality treated lumber, whether inground or above the ground.

Ask for your copy at the store.

Check our quality and very competitive prices on 2x4, 2x6 & 5/4x6 LIFEWOOD Lumber! We also stock Cedar and Special Order Redwood for your outdoor projects.
